Poll to Decide Whether Campbell Manor Residents Join Campbell

Residents in the Campbell Manor tract, an unincorporated area bounded on three sides by the City of Campbell, will be polled by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce as to whether they desire to be annexed to the City of Campbell.

This was the decision reached at the close of a joint meeting of residents of the area and city officials held Monday night at the City Hall.

If a majority of the 49 registered voters residing in the area show a preference to become a part of the City of Campbell, the C. of C. will ask the City Council to call an annexation election. A simple majority is all that is needed to carry the issue.

More than a third of the residents have already signed the petition asking to come into Campbell, C. of C. officials report, and it is expected that others may sign before the postcard poll of the area is taken.

Poll of Residents

Polling of the residents was the suggestion offered by the residents themselves at the close of a "pro-con" meeting on the annexation subject.

The meeting, which mainly was a question-answer affair, was called by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce and Sam Cava, secretary-manager, acted as moderator.

Present were Campbell's Police Chief Robert J. Locke, Fire Chief George Maxwell, LeRoy Black, superintendent of streets, Mark E. Thomas, city engineer, and Mayor Myron Fairchild to explain what service were offered by the City of Campbell. Also present were representatives of the sheriff's department and Steve Goodman, manager of Sanitation District 4 and Rex Gardner, P.G.&E. official.

Almost 75 percent of the home-owners in the tract were represented at the meeting and both the "pros and cons" were enthusiastic and pleased by the manner in which the meeting was conducted and the purpose for which it was called.

Malone Spokesman

Acting as spokesman for the group was James Malone, 731 Hedegard Ave., a Bank of America officer at the Cambrian Park branch. Malone led in the questioning of various officials after Cava and Mayor Fairchild had opened the meeting by explaining its purpose.

Thetwo city officials frankly admitted that the City of Campbell would like to have the tract become part of the City and pointed out that except for the fact that it was outside the City limits, the area was actually a part of Campbell and had been from the start.

Malone and other residents questioned both the sheriff's department representatives and Chief Locke as to the type and frequency of patrolling now in effect. Locke explained that his department was patrolling the area regularly at the present time because it was necessary to go through it in order to reach other sections of the city.

Fire Chief Answers

Fire Chief Maxwell also answered questions from the group as to the type of equipment presently in use by the fire department and what was expeced in the future. Maxwell said that the new fire engine on order to be delivered in May would bring the local department up to a standard that could be compared with any in the county.

In answer to a question from the audience Maxwell also said that his trucks at the present time should be able to answer a call in the in Campbell Manor area within three or four minutes.

Street Superintendent Black described the new street sweeper recently purchased by the city and said that he hoped soon to have a schedule that would call for residential streets to be swept twice a month. He added that the downtown streets are swept twice-weekly.

Goodman, manager of Sanitation District 4, explained that the sewer situation was not affected whether the area was in or outside the city limits.

He told the residents that they were not paying the basic tax for the district but that a poll taken last year indicated that the residents were satisfied with septic tanks at present. If they connected with the sewer lines, he said, each resident would be assessed for the costs.

A brochure issued by the Chamber of Commerce which compared tax rates and showed what services were offered by Campbell was distributed to the group and was used as a guide in the questioning.

It was determined through the comparison of figures that theextra cost to the average taxpayer would range between $5 to $10 more per year.

Cost Surprises

This low cost came as a surprise to many of the residents present. Mrs. Raymond E. Barton, 680 Hedegard, for example, said that they had estimated that it would run as high at $30 per year more. Others had heard they said that the extra cost would run more than $100.

Harold R. Adams, 700 Hedegard, said that he estimated his cost would run between $10 and $15 more per year for the extra services that would be offered.

Robert M. Culp, 730 Hedegard, and Les Harmon, 81 Victor, leaders in the movement to join the city, told city officials later that they thought this extra cost was little enough to pay for the services and the fact they would become an integral part of the community in fact as well as name.

Sales Tax Income for Campbell Far Exceeds Budget Estimates

Campbell has passed Gilroy and is pressing Los Gatos in sales tax income, according to the figures released by the State Board of Equalization showing the sales tax receipts for the 16 cities in Santa Clara County.

According to the report, Campbell received $28,532 in fourth quarter distribution of the sales tax, more than one-third gain over the same period last year when $20,486 was received. Gilroy, on the other hand, showed a drop of $1,468 for the same period while Los Gatos received $130 less this year.

During the fourth quarter in 1957 Los Gatos received $35,395 while Campbell was receiving $20,486, a spread between of $14,909. The current figures show Los Gatos receiving $35,265 to Campbell's $28,532, a difference of only $6,733.

Steady Climb

Campbell's steady climb in the county sales tax picture is a healthy sign, civic and business leaders emphasize, because the sales tax income is in direct proportion to retail sales. They point out that the sales tax income for the City of Campbell will far exceed the amount anticipated in the current fiscal year's budget, if the same ratio of increase continues.

City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan reported that in the first six months of the fiscal year, ending December 31, $52,063.09 has been received by the city from the sales tax and that the estimated income in the budget for the entire year was set at $75,000, leaving only $22,936.91 to be raised during the next six month period. She also reports that the city has received $11,885.19 more during the six months this year than for the same period in the previous year.

During the fiscal year 1957-58 (ending June 30) a total of $76,340.61 was received by the City of Campbell. In 1956-57, the year the sales tax was put into effect, $35,666.41 was the city's share.

During the fourth quarter in 1958, a total of $1,880,524 was distributed to the cities and the county. The county received $366,414 of this amount, down $21,243 from the same period in previous year.

In the fourth quarter, San Jose received $767,824; Palo Alto, $257,225; Mountain View, $118,431; Santa Clara, $111,688; Sunnyvale, $89,892; Los Altos, $40,559; Los Gatos, $35,265; Campbell, $28,532; Gilroy, $26,812; Morgan Hill, $11,624; Saratoga, $8,944; Cupertino, $8,020; Milpitas, $7,775; Alviso, $936; Los Altos Hills, $573; and Monte Sereno, $16.

RAIN DROPS

Campbell received 2.15 inches of rain from the storm on Monday and Tuesday of this week with 1.35 inches falling on Monday and .80 on Tuesday. After a respite from the showers on Wednesday, the clouds were indicating Wednesday night that they were about to let fly again. The season's total of rainfall is now 2.84 inches compared to 4.26 at this same time last year and a normal of 8.09. A total of 24.34 inches fell last year which ended June 30.

Campbell Gains In Five Years

There are 48 more businesses in Campbell today than there were in 1953, an increase of 27.4 per cent according to a report released this week by Dun & Bradstreet.

Santa Clara County listed 18.1 per cent more businesses during the same five-year period going from 6,025 in 1953 to 7,116 today an increase of 1,091 during that time.

According to the figures reported by R. F. Cathcart, district manager of the San Francisco office of Dun & Bradstreet, Milpitas, Sunnyvale and Saratoga showed the greatest percentage of gain in the five years. Milpitas jumped more than 100 per cent from 17 to 38, Sunnyvale went from 220 to 389 and Saratoga from 59 to 103.

Other cities: San Jose, 3,006 to 3,125, 4 per cent; Palo Alto, 810, to 1,069, 32 per cent; Los Gatos, 301 to 334, 11 per cent; Los Altos, 212 to 282, 33 per cent; Cupertino, 87 to 131, 50.5 per cent; Mountain View, 378 to 479, 27 per cent; and Santa Clara, 375 to 549, 46.4 per cent.

Planners Name Les Harmon Chairman for Second Year

Les Harmon, Campbell real estate agent residing at 81 Victor Ave., was reelected chairman of the Campbell Planning Commission by his fellow commissioners on Tuesday night. Harmon served as chairman during all of 1958.

Reelected as vice-chairman was Richard Salice, owner of the Aero Pharmacy and whose residence is at 860 Rincon Ave. City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan was reappointed secretary of the Commission with Deputy City Clerk Adamson as her representative.

Taking part in their first meeting Tuesday were newly appointed Commissioners Lewis C. Woodfill, 242 S. Beverly Court, manager of the Campbell branch of the Economy Lumber Co., and Robert L. Ferguson, 839 Ricky Drive, local draftsman.

Woodfill and Ferguson were named to the Commission in place of Ted Solari and Samuel O'Brien, whose terms expired on December 31. Harmon's term also expired on December 31 but he agreed to serve again.

Ferguson disqualified himself twice during his first meeting because he had participated in the drafting of the plans for two applications that were before the Commission.

The Planners approved the application of County Sheet Metal Co., for an industrial building to be located on Harrison Ave., opposite Grant St. and also gave their okay to the plans of Joseph P. Russo for a six-unit apartment house to be located on the south side of W. Rincon Ave., approximately 295-feet west of Winchester Road.

In granting their approval to Russo's plans, the Planners specified, however, that their okay would not be effective until the new R-3 zone for the property was in force.

The Council recently granted the zoning, overruling the Planning Commission's action. The Planners had denied the request for rezoning because of the effect on egress and ingress to the old Mission Hatchery property that adjoins the area on which the apartment is to be built.

In other actions the Commission set January 20 as the public hearing date on the proposed plan-line for that portion of S. Winchester Road that lies within the city limits and set the same night for the public hearing on the rezoning to M-1-S (light manufacturing) for that area that recently became a part of the City of Campbell through four separate annexations. The section is in the McGlincey Lane-Casey Road vicinity. A previous public hearing on the matter had to be abandoned because of an error in the listing.

As chairman of the Commission's sub-committee on signs, Commissioner Salice informed the group that it was imperative to get an effective sign ordinance in effect and that his committee would attempt to work out the details on a tentative ordinance as soon as possible. Commissioner Ferguson was named to the committee to replace Commissioner Solari. Commissioner Jim Tomlinson is the other member.

HELPING HAND . . . Mrs. Charles R. Williams of 90 E. Parr Avenue, Campbell, shows a March of Dimes coin collector to her 8-year old son, Rodney who contracted paralytic polio when he was only 10 months old. Mrs. Williams is a volunteer worker for the 1959 March of Dimes which is now underway in the Campbell area. This year's new, expanded drive will benefit victims of arthritis, birth defects, central nervous system disorders and virus diseases, as well as polio. Young Rodney, along with other post-polios, will continue to receive medical and rehabilitative aid through March of Dimes.

Councilman Rose to Request Council to Plan for City Parks

All plans for the further development of the corporation yard of the City of Campbell, located on the Los Gatos Creek at Campbell Ave., should be held in abeyance until more suitabe sites have been explored.

If an adequate site can be found for the city's corporation yard in some other location, then steps should be taken to develop the present yard site into a recreational area on a minor scale with the view in mind of acquiring a larger site for a city park and recreational area.

This will be the substance of the report that Councilman Charles Rose, head of the Council's park and recreational committee, will make to the City Council next Monday night.

Councilman Rose has been working closely with Charles Schmidt and Neal Royer, of the West Valley Council of Clubs, the coordinating council representing approximately 56 local organizations, in an effort to develop a community wide recreational project.

The West Valley Council of Clubs had suggested to the City Council that the possibility of transforming the corporation yard into a recreational area be looked into.

Rose's report to the City Council on Monday will be the result of conferences with the West Valley Council of Clubs and actual "field work". The councilman said that he and officers of the club group had actually tramped miles over the countryside looking for possible locations for both a corporation yard and for recreational areas. He added that a number of suitable spots had been found.

The councilman plans to attend the West Valley Council of Clubs meeting tonight (Thursday) in the administration office of the Campbell High School District when it is expected that various sites will be discussed. Also under discussion will be the methods the organizations of the community can use to

On the agenda for the City Council meeting Monday also is the appeal of E. R. Kennedy from the Planning Commission ruling which denied a zone change for property at Catalpa-Winchester Road on which it was planned to build a post office.

The City Council previously by an unanimous vote had denied a use permit for the post office at that location (overruling the Planning Commission) and observers of the situation feel that it is not likely that the City Dads have changed their minds since then.

On the agenda also is the public hearing for a zone change from residential to commercial for property at San Tomas Aquino Road-Campbell Ave. The change is requested by Ernest Uenaka, who plans to erect a nursery on the site. The Planning Commission has okayed the zone change.

A public hearing on the San Jose-Los Gatos Road plan line will also take place Monday.

What's the Name?

Long a bothersome problem to local people, the "s tr e et-of-four-names" may get its nomenclature straightened out, if the Campbell Planning Commission follows through with the suggestion made by Commissioner Thayer Lyons Tuesday night.

Lyons pointed out that the fork of S. Winchester Road where it crosses the railroad track between the two lumber yards goes by "Winchester Road", "Casey Road", Camden Ave." and even "White Oaks Road".

He thought that action should be taken to give it one name similar to the recent move approved by both the Planners and City Council that changed Dutard Ave. to Payne Ave. It was decided to hold any action in abeyance until final annexation is completed of several parcels of land in the vicinity of the street or streets.

Hi-Lighters Keep Busy Yule Season

St. Lucy's Hi-Lighters, a club made up of high school students, had an activity-packed holiday season which included collection of toys and clothing, a pot-luck Christmas dinner party and Christmas caroling through the Campbell area.

The toys and clothing were collected for the Dominican Sisters of San Francisco and started the Christmas activity for the club. Pat Connors, president of the Hi-Lighters, at the Christmas dinner party attended by 67 teenagers, presented Father Thomas Ahern, sponsor of the club with a gift. Gifts were exchanged by club members and the balance of the evening was spent in dancing.

The caroling took place on Monday, December 22 and the group rode through the streets on an open truck. After the caroling the members enjoyed refreshments of hot chocolate and cookies.

The time was pin-pointed, the police report, because of a door check that is taken on the store. Entry was made by breaking a glass in the front door.

Two juveniles were questioned in the burglary but denied any knowledge of it, although they admitted to breaking into Nelson Bros. Trucking and removing articles.

Campbell police report also that a rim and wheel removed from the Volkswaggon owned by Mrs. Jacqueline Grunsky, 450 Dover Way on Tuesday were returned the same day after the sheriff's office had arrested two juveniles in Los Gatos and recovered the stolen items from them.

The accident occurred at 4:30 p.m on Bear Creek Road approximately 600 yards south of the Alma College gate.

Driver of the truck was Fred D'Amico, 19, of 3479 Kirk Road who told the Highway Patrol that his rear wheel slid off the road and caused the truck to skid into an embankment and overturn. He was uninjured.

MISTER BLOOMINGTON AND THE ROBOT

By Jon Strobehn, 7th

Mr. Davidson Q. McPhone laid down his pipe and pushed a button. A red light flashed and the center of the table he was sitting at dropped away. A panel rose up in its place. A bowl of cereal, a plate bearing two eggs and a slice of bacon, and a glass of milk were on it. Also on the panel were two slices of toast, a dish containing a piece of butter, a napkin, and silverware. Mr. McPhone put the napkin on his lap, buttered a piece of toast and began eating it.

Three blocks away another man had just finished eating breakfast. He went outside his house and climbed into his 1954 Ford sedan. By the time he got to the investment company where he worked Mr. McPhone had finished breakfast.

Mr. McPhone got up from the table and pushed the button and the dirty dishes disappeared. He knocked the ashes out of his pipe into a container and put the the pipe on a shelf on the wall. He walked over to a portion of a wall and pushed a button. A panel slid away and what seemed to be a man stepped out of a hidden closet.

Mr. McPhone was an inventor. He had been left a share in a telephone company by an uncle and had used the money to finance his inventions. One of these was a robot. It could walk, talk and do a certain amount of thinking but could only do what it was told to do. However, if any part of his directions was not told to him he would try to reason it out for himself and his reasoning was horrible. This robot was built to look exactly like a man. It had a face painted on its head and you could not tell the difference from a human face without looking closely.

Mr. McPhone took a steel box out of his pocket on which were several controls. He flipped two switches on it and said, "Gazmo," (for that was the robot's name), "take $5,000 and get 50 shares of Titan Copper Co., Inc. Go to Williams and Bloomington in the Smith Building, at 103 Jamen Avenue. Take a cab. There's money in the safe. Take two dollars for the cab. Let him keep the change."

Henry Bloomington chewed on the end of his pencil. He couldn't figure what to do about a client who left him $15,000 to invest in something. He could try investing it in Tilman Steel but the stock market was dropping. He had a headache and the carburetor on his Ford was about to give out. He had mislaid his glasses and couldn't see well without them. He had decided to leave when a man walked in the door of his office and said, "I wish to buy 50 shares of Titan Copper Co., Inc."

Mr. Bloomington got up from his desk and walked over to the man and said, "I'm leaving now, would you be so good as to step outside?"

The man did and Mr. Bloomington went outside and locked the door. The man, as you have already guessed was Gazmo, the robot. Since he had not invested the money he had decided to follow Mr. Bloomington.

Mr. Bloomington pushed a button by the elevator. 12 seconds later the elevator door opened. Mr. Bloomington went into the elevator (self-service) and Gazmo followed. Mr. Bloomington pushed the "1" button. When the door opened again they got out together and walked out of the building. Mr. Bloomington got in his Ford and Gazmo got in a cab that was waiting on the curb.

When Mr. Bloomington reached his home a cab pulled up and Gazmo got out. Mr. Bloomington looked at him and invited him in. They went into the living room and sat down.

"What's your name?" asked Mr. Bloomington after picking up a pair of glasses.

"Gazmo."

"Why did you follow me here?"

It's a free country."

"There must be some reason."

"There is."

"What is it, Mr. Gazmo?"

"Why do you want to know?"

"Well it's me you're followin!"

"Quite so."

"Why don't you say something definite, Mr. Gazmo?"

"Like what?"

"You answer questions with questions."

"It's my privilege!"

Mr. Bloomington looked him over carefully and looked again. "By gad, you're not real!"

"I'm here aren't I?"

"You're a robot!"

"Quite."

"Who do you belong to?"

"Why use the word 'belong?' Even robots have some rights."

"Well then, who do you live with?"

"Mr. Davidson McPhone."

"Where does he live?"

"He lives in several places, hotels, offices, etc."

After half a dozen more answers like that Mr. Bloomington looked it up in the phone directory and the robot was returned that night. The next day Mr. McPhone invested the money himself and made $751 when Titan copper declared an extra dividend. Mr. Bloomington invested his client's money in Titan Copper, too, and got a good commission. The next time Gazmo walked into the office Mr. Bloomington didn't go home.

THE REVERSIBLE BENCH

By Linda Zausen

Last summer we went to Oregon on our vacation. In Oregon we camped at several State Parks. The one particular park I am talking about is Humbug Mountain State Park.

When we got to Humbug Park, it was raining (there is a rainy climate in Oregon, especially in the coastal area).

At Humbug Park there is a beautiful trail that goes to top of Humbug Mountain. Even though it was raining we decided to go up the trail.

The higher we went, the harder it rained. When we got about half-way up the trail, there was a small bench, but we couldn't sit down on it because it was soaking wet. I thought, "What a good idea it would be if there were some way you could turn the seat of the bench over so it would be on the bottom side, which would be dry."

When we got home, I was still thinking about that bench, and a thought struck me. A spring could be attached on the back side of the bench. When you go to sit down, all that you would have to do is push the seat of the bench over and sit down on that side which would be dry. As soon as you get up it springs back into its original position. This would be ideal for the wet climate of Oregon.

Beauty Tips from ME to YOU BY MR. SAL

Make your age unimportant — the secret of looking young is in the art of dressing your age — wear only what is becoming ... choose your clothes to set off your most important points — every detail counts — recognize figure changes and buy according to fit, not to the size you have always worn . . .

The shape of your brows is determined by heredity, but eyebrows that haven't enough curve, length or color can be changed ... The newest eye pencils have fine sharp points with little pencil sharpeners built into the cap to keep them that way ... The beauty trick is to darken your brows without darkening the skin ... a dab of cream warmed on your hand can give the pencil an extra softness for accurate shaping.

Will San Jose Change Its Ways?

We sincerely hope that during 1959 the City of San Jose will see fit to change its annexation tactics especially as they affect other cities in the county.

We also hope that the City of San Jose will realize during 1959 that bigness, (i.e. "to be the largest city in area") is not as important as it apparently appears to the leaders in that city.

We also hope that during 1959 that the City of San Jose will realize that the dominating tactics have alienated the affectons of all the other cities in the county.

We hope that this is not just wishful thinking on our part.

We have long advocated that there is room for cooperation among the cities and county in many of the services that are offered to residents.

We feel that the average taxpayer will benefit through cooperation. But cooperation has been virtually impossible to date because San Jose feels that it must dominate the county. What is best for the taxpayer seems to have no bearing on the case.

This year the courts will be forced to decide whether San Jose's so-called "Cherry Lane" annexations and other allied ones are encroachments on the legal rights of the City of Campbell.

But even if the courts rule that it is perfectly legal for San Jose to "divide and conquer", we do not feel that the troublesome question will have been answered.

It is our opinion that if the laws of the state allow such actions on the part of a city, then the law shows a weakness that should be corrected. No law can be effective, if it is ridiculous.

Recently Les Harmon, chairman of the Campbell Planning Commission, represented the City of Campbell at the San Jose City Council meeting to protest a current San Jose annexation called "Bucknall 9" which cuts into Campbell in virtually the same manner as do the "Cherry Lanes".

Harmon claimed that the annexations were in direct violaton to the "gentlemen's agreement" previously made between Campbell and San Jose. Harmon compared the "gentlemen's agreement" to a verbal contract which is recognized as legal and binding.

He explained that the agreement was based on mutual need and mutual good faith of the cities concerned and should not have been abrogated by one of the parties without the consent of the other.

Harmon, who has served on the Planning Commission for a number of years, told the City of San Jose Council that the annexatons in question, in his opinon, were the opposite of good, sound planning. He said that they cut into the heart of Campbell and thus complicated planning and services to a great degree. He told the Council that good planning was the job for ALL the cities.

"Just to be the BIGGEST City, in area and population in the Bay area at the expense of Campbell, or any other particular city is not reason enough for annexations," Harmon told the Council.

Harmon also defended the principle of "home rule" as it is applied n the smaller cities. He maintained that there were practical and valid reasons for existence of the smaller cities.

To show that the smaller cities can help the large one, Harmon cited the fact that it was Sam Cava, secretary-manager of the Cmapbell Chamber of Commerce and the City Council of Campbell that were instrumental in getting a ruling fom the Public Utilities Commission which substantually lowered freight rates in both Campbell and San Jose, a ruling that will amount to a tremendous saving to the shoppers in both cities.

Harmon pleaded with the San Jose City Council to work toward a joint cooperatve effort with other cities in the county for the benefit of ALL the people.

"Certainly the best cannot come from the one biggest city forcing its will upon all the rest of the county," he concluded.

We doubt very much that Harmon's sound arguments and plea for cooperation swayed any of the City Fathers of San Jose. They are too far committed on the road to "bigness".

We fervently hope, however, that before the year is over, they will see the light and realize that private rights are being overlooked in their various landgrabs.

It is still not too late !

OUT on the LIMB

George Vierhus

We have long felt that the community newspaper could do a better job for the community, if representatives of various organizations had a better knowledge of the "how" to get their messages through.

On occasion we have climbed up on our little soap box and maintained that this weakness in community relations was the fault of both the "pros" (the newspaper people) and the amateurs (the publicity chairmen and heads of the organizations). We felt that this relationship easily could be improved through the simple procedure of having the "pros" telling the amateurs what was expected and the amateurs telling the "pros" what they wanted.

We feel strongly that a community newspaper has an important part to play in the overall public relations picture of the community but it has to have the confidence and support of the various organizations and this can not be developed on "mental telepathy".

Apparently Ed Stanley, the director of the Campbell adult education program, has recognized that there is a need for this type of mutual information.

He has made provisions to include a new course in community relations, especially directed to representatives of organizations, in the winter program at the Campbell Adult Center and he has asked us to conduct the class.

We have accepted the assignment for two basic reasons: (1) We think such a class can be of service to the community and (2) after sounding off as much as we have in the past, we couldn't very well turn it down.

We sincerely hope that enough intetrest will be shown in the class so that it can be offered (it takes at least 15 to have a class). We don't know what kind of a teacher we will be but we will do our best.

—o—

Selfishly we hope to gain considerably from the class if it is held. We think it should make it possible to improve our own product.

We are constantly amazed by the various impressions that people have amassed about the mysteries of journalism. It will be our job to a certain extent to unveil these mysteries.

We are a little concerned over whether we are capable of doing the job properly. But we must confess, that we will be happy to give it a whirl.

Although we have been exposed to the journalistic problems of a community newspaper for a long time, we still are stimulated whenever the edition comes off the press and we realize that the contents will be read by thousands.

We also know that upon occasions many readers will not agree with the contents. It is not unusual for someone to call us immediately after the paper is out to take exception to something that appeared in print.

In fact we get to expect such calls and are steadily disappointed when we draw a blank.

One Thursday not so long ago Fire Chief George Maxwell called us and said that an irate woman was in his office raising dickens about something that had appeared in the paper. The chief thought we ought to come over. He did not elaborate further.

We hastily scanned the current edition to see were we had fouled up and trotted over to the fire station prepared to defend our product.

We immediately learned it was a put-up job.

A couple, who had formerly lived in a town in southern California where we ran the newswith whom they were also acquainted and, learning that we paper, had called on Maxwell were around, suggested the embellishments to the invitation issued to us by the fire chief.

Instead of a bawling out, we had an enjoyable visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Beardsell, now of Modesto. We might add that both of them and Chief Maxwell got a bang out of how they got us over.

We once offered to bet that no newspaper was completely free of typographical errors and that we would locate an error in any paper that was presented to us. Some would be harder to find than others but with plenty of time we were sure we could find a small one in any paper.

So far there have been no takers on our proferred bet and we have not had to test it. We are sorry to say that The Campbell Press has never been free of errors. Some of them have been embarassing ones.

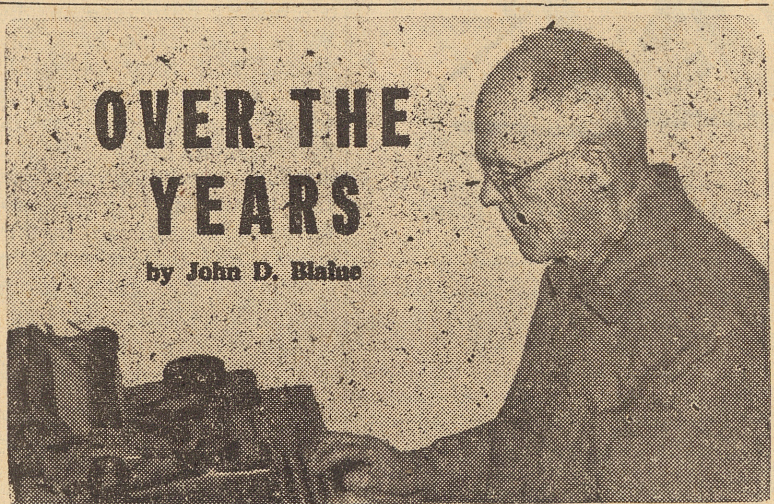
In a morbid sort of way we are pleased to note that publications other than newspapers are afflicted with the same disease. Misery loves company or something like that.

Someone recently called our attention to a "typo" that appears in the street address directory put out by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

This is the directory, as you may know, that lists the places and phones by streets.

In the E. Campbell Ave. listing we note that the directory lists at 200 E. Campbell Ave., the "OLD Fellows Hall."

We think the younger members of the local IOOF Lodge could resent that.



I owe a public apology to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Dufur for saying their winning display called Disney Land at Christmas Time was made by their small son. It was the work of an older son, a butcher like his father, who has amazing amateur talent in the field of art.

And I might say something here about amateur art as such. Over the years I have become convinced that as a rule the most common sense thing to do with amateur art is to keep it amateur.

Business competition is said to be ruthless. But perhaps the most ruthless competition on earth is in the realm of art. In this community, for instance, many individuals make a living in skilled trades. But so far as I know we have only one professional landscape painter.

I don't know that we have a single professional writer; that is, a single person who lives entirely by freelance writing. There are only a few hundred persons who live solely by freelance writing in the entire United States.

But amateur art of any kind can be a good hobby. A woman checker in a market told me she expects soon to take up amateur painting just for relaxation. Grand! The great Churchill does it too—just for relaxation.

One thing people do not do for relaxation is write letters to this columnist. In two years I've received only about six letters. Only one of these letters has been from a man. The event is so unusual that I quote the letter in part as follows:

"I can't help but feel that it is rather a sad commentary on the citizenship of Campbell, both official and lay, that after approximately three years of effort, we are still unable to agree on a site for a new and much needed Postoffice. I want you to be sure that I include myself in that comment. It seems there must surely have been something I could have done to implement a successful decision. I am afraid that indecision makes a bad impression upon the great number of new citizens who are coming into our area.

"I know you will not be surprised when I say that it is sometimes pretty tough to decide that one believes is to the best interest of ALL the citizens of Campbell, then 'stand pat' against whatever pressure is brought to bear.

"One thing I particularly liked in one of your columns was your implied plea that our citizens let us know when they are FOR something, rather than only when they are AGAINST. After all, when there are a hundred against, the other twelve thousand odd must be either neutral or for."

You can't imagine what an encouraging shot in the arm it is to get a letter like that. And on top of that I received an encouraging word from our worthy Postmaster whom I happened to meet by accident in a market.

Possibly I may become bold enough figuratively to kick the shins and punch the noses of our noble City Dads and our Planning Commission when they seem to obstruct rather than advance the welfare of our community.

I am both interested and amused to see that we depend more and more upon Sam Cava, who came to this country as an Italian boy and managed to escape some of our compulsory education that tends to make us like sheep, good only to be pushed around.

The late Elmer Davis, well-known news commentator, said in his last book that if this country ever runs out of people who don't like to be pushed around we are done for. I have bragged many times that I escaped school after about six and a half elementary grades. Therefore I don't like to be pushed around.

Sam Cava claims to have done better in the escape from schooling than I did. In personal independence and drive I don't compare with him, but perhaps I am somewhat qualified to appreciate his spunk and spine.

I think we are lucky indeed to have such a man employed to take the initiative in the welfare of our city.

George, our worthy editor I told that perhaps from the amateur art of writing this column I need an extended vacation. Whether I do or not will depend considerably on whether or not I can get relaxation out of it.

Trailer Registration Poses Special Problems for States

California has nearly 200,000 registered house trailers, or mobile homes, as their owners prefer to call them. The actual total number as of June 30 was 181,419, on which registration and vehicle license fees amounted to $2,854,879.

Registration of house trailers poses a number of special problems, with which most owners are by now familiar. But to many newcomers to our State, California's trailer laws will appear to be unique.

Since 1955 the law has required annual registration renewal on all house trailers, regardless of their mobility, or lack of it. In other words, you can't pull a trailer into a parking facility, jack it up off its wheels and call it a house for purposes of avoiding payment of annual fees.

The trailer remains a motor vehicle, subject to motor vehicle fees, even though it may be parked for years in one place and is not moved on the highways.

The exception is the trailer which has been permanently attached to private property, by foundation, sewer connection, etc., and has been declared for taxing purposes as improvement to real estate.

The trailer owner in military service is exempt from these provisions. Service personnel who live in trailers while stationed here must have had valid registration, either in California, the last state of government assignment, or the state from whence they came, at the time of moving to this state.

They are not required to maintain current registration provided their trailers are not moved on the highways and are not used in connection with a trade or business.

This exemption is not extended to civilian owners. If you have moved here, accepted employment, and your trailer bears a valid registration in the state from which you came, the registration is good until the statutory expriation date in your home state.

Gloria Olson, of Bohansen and Olson, and Lee Fisher of Curry Plumbling, in the Saratoga Lanes Bee League, divided top honors on Tuesday afternoon in the women's bowling league at the Saratoga Lanes.

Gloria rolled high game with 201 and Lee bowled 195 while Lee took high series with 534 followed by Gloria with 505.

Benson's Cleaners took high team game with 578 with Curry Plumbling in second with 563. Curry Plumbing was also second in high team series with 1600 Bohansen and Olson's 1602.

Orpha Norell of Curry Plumbing picked up the lone split (4-7-10) of the afternoon.

Rachel's Dress Shop of Campbell still holds onto first place in the league standings with a 41-19 record with the other teams bunched behind. In second place in the 14-team league is Benson's 37½-22½ followed by Kiddie World, 36½-23½; Al Mars Motors, 36-24; Williams Painting, 34½-25½; Empire Realty, 32-28; Curry Plumbing, 30-30.

Campbell High Loses Two Matmen

On the eve of the crucial wrestling match on Friday afternoon between the two intra-district rivals, Campbell High and Camden High, it was announced this week that Ron Corbus, 154 and Bob Snyder, 175 would be lost to the Campbell team because of their ineligibility.

The two Buc wrestlers, lost for the season, are reported to have competed in the Campbell Hi-Y basketball tournament during Christmas vacation which violates a SCVAL rule which prohibits athletes from participating in outside organized sports during the season they are playing for school.

Four Los Gatos wrestlers were lost for the season because of the same rule infraction.

The undefeated Bucs meet the Camden Cougars in the Cougar gym at 4 p.m. Friday. The match may be decide the championship of SCVAL (west) as Camden is now second to Campbell and the loss of the wrestlers may be enough to put Camden on top.

LOW DOWN ON SPORTS

The Rose Bowl

The Iowa Hakeyes walloped the California Golden Bears on Thursday by a score of 28-12. California could not stop the running of Jiller the Jet, Willie Fleming, and Don Horn. Iowa completely outplayed the Bears. When Cal. came back in the second half they looked like they might be able to start something. On their first drive Cal. went all the way for a T.D. but Iowa was too strong for Cal. and they didn't make another Touchdown until late in the 4th quarter and the game was over. I hope the contendors group in the west do better next year.

Sugar Bowl

L.S.U. led the Country Gentlemen to a 7-0 defeat. No score was recorded until the second half, when Clemson hiked the ball to the short man on a punt play. He tried to get rid of the ball but failed and L.S.U. recovered. They drove for a touchdown and got their P.A.T. Clemson drove into L.S.U. territory but couldn't get a touchdown. The final score was L.S.U. 7—Clemson 0.

Basketball

The Santa Clara Broncos lost to Arizona State Friday night. While Santa Clara was losing San Jose State defeated Arizona in an overtime game.

The following night the teams exchanged rivals and Santa Clara beat Arizona while San Jose State lost to Arizona State.

Santa Clara plays their first league game Friday night against U.S.F. here at the Civic Auditorium. Santa Clara's defense is beautiful but they are off on their shooting, which I think will be improved by then.

CAMPFIRE AND BLUEBIRD NEWS

By Naomi James

Mrs. Dorothy Gibson, chairman of the Peanut Sale, will be at the Leaders' Association meeting today in the youth hall of the Congregational Church, 400 W. Campbell Ave. Mrs. Gibson will give details of the peanut sale and distribute explanatory literature. The Peanut Sale will begin January 31 and end February 15.

—o—

The annual meeting, January 19, 1959, is for all Camp Fire friends. This includes leaders, assistants, sponsors and parents of Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls, and Horizon Club members. This is an opportunity to meet the members of the board of directors; and to elect new officers and members to the board. Any changes in the by-laws will be voted on at this time.

The place for the meeting will be the Willow Glen Methodist Church, Washington and Minnesota streets, in Kohlstedt Hall.

A ham dinner will be served at 6:45 P.M.; the price is $1.75 per plate. Reservations must be in the office by January 12.

No reservation is needed for the program which begins at 8:00 P.M. and which will consist of songs by Horizon Club girls and skits by Camp Fire girls and Blue Birds. Wakan Awards for outstanding leadership in Camp Fire will be presented and voting will take place at this time. Mr. Richard Conniff, supt. of Alum Rock School District, board member and Training Committee chairman, will be the speaker.

Although Campbell District is probably the strongest district in the county, representation at the Annual Meeting, where it would be most impressive, isn't very good. Everyone connected with Camp Fire is urged to attend the program, and this includes dads and husbands.

A-O-Wa-Ki-Ya Camp Fire Girls of Cherry Lane and Rosemary were hostesses at a Christmas party for their mothers. Since this fulfilled one of their requirements, (giving a party for sponsors), it held a two-fold purpose.

Games were played and carols were sung. Each girl had a particular part in the evening's festivities, from arranging the table to serving apple cider and cookies (which they had baked themselves. The group is very proud of the 100% turn-out of mothers and girls.

A new fifth grade Camp Fire group in Strawberry Park School is named Wee Ki O Ko Camp Fire Girls. The name of the group means Maidens Growing in Friendship. For their service project, they made a nativity scene with a ten inch stable and five inch paper mache' figures which they painted and presented to the Pediatric Ward of O'Connor's Hospital.

Officers of the group are Sundae Horne, president; Candee Kloes, vice-president; Jeanne Rose, secretary; Barbara Lawler, Treasurer; Janice Kazen, scribe; with Marilyn King and Rosella Tomasello completing the roster. Leader of the girls is Mrs. Donald Kloes, assistant is Mrs. Morris Rose and sponsors are Mrs. Salvador Tomasello and Mrs. Robert Kazen.

Groups interested in the Golden Jubilee Project concerned with tree planting, should pick up and plant eucalyptus seedlings before the end of January. The San Jose Nursery will provide these seedings, which may be returned in May, or kept for two years and then transplanted along the Guadalupe Freeway.

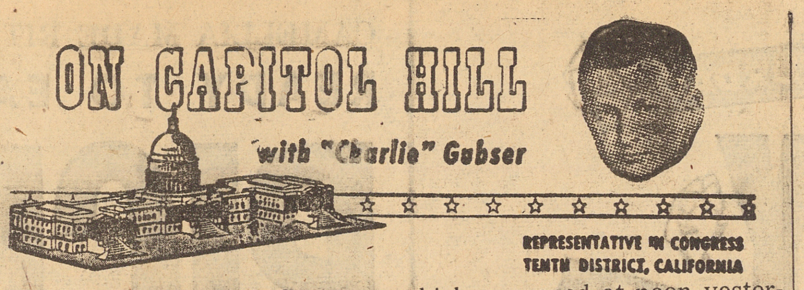
ON CAPITOL HILL



The brand new 86th Congress which convened at noon yesterday has a new number, many new faces, but a lot of old issues which have been around for a long time. To many of us who have been on CAPITOL HILL for some time the debate on a Labor Regulatory Bill, Housing, Foreign Aid, and the perennial question of Farm Price Supports won't be new. To the contrary, most of it will be a repetition of speeches we've heard before all dressed up with new and up to date facts and figures.

Congress can't get down to serious business for at least two weeks since the job of making committee assignments and organizing the all important subassembly plants for legislation has to be done first. In the meantime, every member will be busy polishing up bills for introduction, pushing local projects with administrative agencies, and catching up on correspondence which came in after the holidays.

Earliest action of any importance should be in the field of Housing. Because the logjam in the closing days of the 85th Congress completely capsized any Housing legislation and because several important programs like Urban Renewal are out of funds, Congress will certainly act at an early date. My prediction is that Urban Renewal will be liberally provided for. Though I expect a definite public demand for economy this year, it won't have gotten started by the time action is taken on Housing.

Labor Regulation undoubtedly will be stalled again as it was in the last session when the Kennedy-Ives bill went down the drain under a last minute "gag" rule prohibiting debate and amendments. However, it will not be stalled to the point where there is any doubt that we will pass a bill which professes to be a regulation of faulty union practices. Personally I believe that the bill will be more palatable to unions than the Kennedy-Ives version. By the same token it will undoubtedly be less favorable to management.

Foreign Aid, I predict, is in for its roughest sledding yet provided the International situation does not worsen markedly. During each of my three preceding terms in Congress I have seen the margin of support for mutual security narrow considerably. This year won't be an exception, but we will still have a substantial, though reduced program.

Farm price legislation will touch off a scathing battle. Secretary Benson, who has held the line valiantly in past years, will probably lose ground because of the makeup of the new Congress but only after a real slam-bang battle on his part.

Before you go placing bets based upon this week's predictions, let me remind you that I picked the Braves to win last year's World Series. The Yankees won.
